the texts. Thus, this paper will help us understand this concept more comprehensively.

Keywords: Wrong Body, Transgender, Body, Narrative.

37. An Ecofeminist Reading of Tsitsi Dangarembga's Nervous Conditions

A Annie Divya Mahisha, Reg. No: 19223094012021, Research Scholar in English, Centre for Post Graduate Studies and Research in English, Muslim Arts College, Thiruvithancode, (Affiliated to Manonmaniam Sundaranar University, Tirunelveli)

Dr. V Asha Kumari, Research Supervisor, Centre for Post Graduate Studies and Research in English, Muslim Arts College, Thiruvithancode, (Affiliated to Manonmaniam Sundaranar University, Tirunelveli)

Ecofeminism represents movements and theories that connect feminism with ecology. With the writing of Feminism or Death in 1974 by Francoise d'Eaubonne, the French Feminist, the word 'ecofeminism' came into practice and engaged a crucial place in the ongoing argument on feminism and ecology. The ecofeminists study projects that there is deep bond between female and nature that arrives from their shared history of subjugation by male supremacy. This paper attempts to study ecofeminism in the novel Nervous Conditions written by Tsitsi Dangarembga. Even the language, events and characters in this novel indicate a world that suppress and control both women and nature.

Keywords: Ecofeminism, Nature, Women, Garden, Shona.

38. Immigration, Identity and demand for bifurcation: Understanding the case of Tipraland Movement in Indian State of Tripura

Amaresh Debbarma, PhD Scholar, Centre for Studies in Society and Development, Central University of Gujarat, Gandhinagar

Immigration means movement from one country to another country for better livelihood and opportunities. It can be divided into two- legal and illegal. The state Tripura has been the host of both legal and illegal migration
